

Your Agreement With Your Unconscious

Please read the following carefully. Once you agree, you are forging a strong contract with your unconscious mind. The phrase to the best of my ability makes allowances for unforeseen conflicts of schedule, vacation times, etc. It does not excuse laziness, fear, etc. Here, "CC" stands for Conjure Coaching. That is, the sessions you do with me, the homework, your personal growth and so forth.

You may cancel your sessions at any time. Unused sessions will not be refunded. Advance notice of one month is encouraged.

To the best of my ability, I will do the following:

- * "show up" for my conjure coaching. This means be on time, have my CC notebook, a pen, an open mind and a good attitude.
- * pay for my sessions, on time. If there's a reason I can't do this, I will communicate clearly with Magus... as far in advance as I can.
- * accept full responsibility for my growth and development in all areas. I accept that no one is going to "save" me, that I must be as forthcoming as possible as far as what I need, what I want and what I'm really and truly thinking and feeling.
- * talk out any problems that arise from the process. Rather than latch onto an excuse to quit, I will politely and maturely discuss fears, hurt feelings, reservations, objections, etc. This process causes powerful emotions to surface. There will be dozens of reasons to quit and it only takes one. By remaining open to change, I will overcome challenges and become my best self. I will see it through and grow. I am far more powerful than I previously imagined.
